DESIGN BRIEF / PROJECT SPECIFICATIONS

If you could, what would you tell your younger self?

Remember those days you struggled with things that now seem so trivial?

Remember when life took a sudden turn and it was hard for you to adjust?

Remember when you said or did things you later regretted?

Or do you remember the things you didn't say or do?

If you could go back in time and face your younger self, what would it be that you'd tell yourself?

With this project, I want to make it possible for people to think about what they would say to their younger selves and to share that with others. During life, one day or another, someone will probably tell you that they wish they had known what they know today. Maybe you will say it yourself. It can be hard to accept advice from others, but it becomes inspiring when the advice is directed towards themselves.

This project is targeted at a broad audience: living people that sometimes struggle with life.

The goal of this project is both to inspire others and to showcase what I've learned in the past few months.

Currently, there is no business model, no revenue and there are no business costs.
